

Atsipopoulo 4-158
74100, Rethymno
Crete, Greece (GR)
Relocation is possible
Tel: (+30) 697 78 29 787
E-mail: al3xand3r@gmail.com

Studies:

- Completed TEE & IEK Finance & Accountancy courses which included basic Business Management and Marketing classes.
- Completed Intered's computing course and earned certificates for Windows, Microsoft Office and Advanced Use of the Internet.

Languages:

- Greek (Native)
- Excellent English (Cambridge FCE)

Other Skills:

Excellent knowledge of the Windows (Vista, XP, 2000, 98, NT, etc) OS and the Open and Microsoft Office software packages, as well as internet based services. Basic knowledge of Photoshop, Gimp and html, excellent knowledge of hardware maintainance and upgrading. Finally, basic knowledge of various popular Linux (RedHat, Ubuntu) OS distributions. I'm essentially a very tech savvy person with more than enough skills for the modern, technologically demanding work environment of today while I strive to remain up to date.

Industry Experience:

I earned my experience in this field by working for various known websites such as planethalf.life.com (GameSpy) and hl2.jolt.co.uk (Jolt), as well as my personal website(s) Mod HQ & Steam Lab (down), which attracted a dedicated, if small fan base, thanks to the amount and quality of the content, and especially the speed at which community related news were reported. Some of my reports have been mentioned on various popular websites.

I've been happy enough to acquire contacts (via e-mails and interviews) within recognised software companies such as Valve Software and Ritual Entertainment (now owned by MumboJumbo), the former of which, seeing my personal hard work, not only gave me the chance to interview major members (Ritual soon followed) but also offered me a Steam press account providing immediate access to most of the video games published via the platform.

My freelancing endeavours include work for TheGameReviews and GameCyte, mostly in the form of news reporting and PC game reviewing.

Other Experience:

I spent a year (May 2007 – May 2008) in the Greek Corps of Cyprus as a part of my military service, a great opportunity which resulted in many important experiences and life lessons. Discipline, decision making, resource management and even leadership were only some of the required skills that can be of great value to civilian life and any demanding work environment.

I am currently employed by the Greek government's IRS but I'm always actively searching for an exciting, challenging job within the industry I love.

Comments:

Please explore my under heavy development new blog for work samples and a more in depth biography detailing my relationship with the industry.

---